DINNERS AND PARTIES.

Mrs. Hugh White will entertain at luncheon Saturday at 1 o'clock in honor of Miss Josie Marr, when the guests will be a few of Miss Marr's most intimate girl friends.

Mrs. E. P. Durham entertained last Monday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Miller. Music and games were enjoyed, and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Julius Krakauer was the hostess on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at a charmingly appointed breakfast, given in honor of Miss Joie Marr.

The table presented a most alluring picture with its attractive central decoration of bride's roses, tied with white tulle. The place cards were of dainty hand painted design.

The guest included: Misses Nannie Lackland, Alma Jones, Mary Fisher, Ethel Walz, Mesdames W. R. Brown, Hugh White, James L. Marr, R. M. Wolcott, George R. LeBaron, R. C. Semple.

Mrs. R. F. Campbell entertained at an informal tea Friday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Parry Wright, when the guests were a few of Mrs. Wright's old friends.

A delightful afternoon was spent in conversation, and a thoroughly good time enjoyed.

Tea was served from the library, with Mrs. J. H. Russell pouring, and assisted by little Irene Campbell.

THE CONQUERORS

Arthur Guiterman, in Smith's Magazine.

Though fools that feed on woe, in dark misgiving,
May bow their backs to bear a primal curse,
Undaunted hearts shall hymn the bliss of living
And all the joy that thrills a universe.

Bewail no fate nor sigh for rest Elysian;
Defy no fate, with stern, rebellious soul;
They laugh with fate, who see, with broader vision,
That they and fate are parts of one great whole.

Rejoice in all of life, her rue and roses;
In toil, and strife, in pain, in quiet breath,
In being's self—so, when the chapter closes,
We'll drink, praise God, an unknown joy in death.

Then forward, surge of pale, illumined faces!
Achieve the moon and storm the slopes of Mars!
Unchained, we'll rove the glad, eternal spaces,
True heirs of all that lies beyond the stars.

Arthur Guiterman, in Smith's Magazine.

WEDDINGS.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the church of the Immaculate Conception, uniting the lives of Miss Nellie O'Boyle and Joseph Edmund Gemoets. A large number of the friends of the young couple were in attendance to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. father Francis Roy.

The church was decorated with quantities of palms, grouped about the chancel rail, while a profusion of white chrysanthemums adorned the altar.

As Miss Dixie Fassett played the wedding march, Miss Ellen Burns, the maid of honor, entered the church, and was followed by the little flower girls, Helen and Jean Krause.

The bride, who came in on the arm of her brother, Martin K. O'Boyle, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Harley R. Kelfer.

The bridegroom wore an elaborate creation in white satin, hand embroidered. The conventional veil of fine was worn, held in place by a wreath of bride's roses, while bride's roses and lilies of the valley, in shower effect, were carried.

The maid of honor, Miss Ellen Burns, was attractively gowned in white silk with lace over dress and wore a white picture hat trimmed with willow plumes.

The guests were Hugo Brieh and Patrick Clifford.

After the ceremony a reception was given at the new home of the bride and groom, 1015 Olive street.

In the house decorations an attractive color scheme in pink and white was developed with carnations.

Miss Frances Carr and Miss Helen German gracefully presided at the punch bowl. Misses Margaret and Katharine O'Boyle presented the guests with boxes of wedding cake, daintily tied with pink and white ribbon, as a souvenir of the occasion.

Among the beautiful wedding presents received was a silver dinner set from the employees of the El Paso Electric Railway company, a silver tea set from Mrs. Otis Andrews of Long Beach, Cal., and a handsome silver dinner set.

from the brother and sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krause.

The bride is an attractive young El Paso girl, who has lived here a number of years and has been connected with the El Paso Electric Light company.

The groom is the junior member of the Belgian bakery, and is well known.

The young couple will go at once to keeping house at their new home, 1015 Olive street.

Mrs. James Marr has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Josephine, to Dr. Louis Githens Witherspoon, which will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 1, at high noon, at St. Clement's Episcopal church.

Mrs. W. R. Brown will attend the bride as matron of honor and Dr. H. H. Stark will assist as best man.

W. K. Marr, Edgar Kayser, Maury Kemp and Dr. C. P. Brown will serve as ushers.

Since the engagement was announced Miss Marr has been the inspiration for many delightful entertainments, and the wedding is looked forward to with much interest by the friends of the popular young couple.

Samuel J. Hawks and Miss Maud L. McCarty were married Wednesday afternoon at Trinity M. E. parsonage, with Rev. C. S. Wright officiating.

The bride came here from Lebanon, Tenn., and was met by the groom, who is from Ontario, Cal., at which place they will make their home.

Word has reached El Paso of the wedding of J. H. Coons, now of Phoenix but for many years established in the insurance business in El Paso, who will be married in San Antonio shortly to Miss Angela Bodet of 201 City street, San Antonio. The wedding is to occur at San Antonio on November 24 and the couple will reside in Phoenix.

Dr. George Mengel entertained 14 friends on Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower, given in honor of S. J. Fennell, who is a prospective bridegroom.

Bridge occupied the early part of the evening, C. B. Stevens, and H. Y. Ellis winning the prizes.

H. Y. Ellis and Cyrus Jones proposed a number of toasts to the future happiness of the honor guest, to which he responded. The long table from which refreshments were served, held an attractive centerpiece of cosmos.

The guests present were: C. B. Stevens, H. Y. Ellis, L. P. Mathews, Whitsett, F. W. Norton, George McLane, Lock Tucker, C. A. Fuller, Cyrus Jones, H. E. Christie, Dr. Hugh White, Scott Johnson.

MISS COOPER'S CONCERT.

One of the society events of the coming week is the concert to be given Tuesday evening at the Christian church by Miss Helen Cooper, assisted by Mr. Francis Moore and Mr. Edward G. Sheibler.

Miss Cooper is an El Paso girl, having spent all of her early life here until she went to Europe three years ago to complete her vocal studies.

Her many friends will take advantage of the opportunity to see what she has accomplished in her three years of study. With the exception of "Il Bacio," which is given by request, none of the numbers have ever been given in El Paso before. Following is the program:

1. Preludes Nos. 1, 2, 3.....Chopin
Mr. Francis Moore.
2. (a) Standschen.....R. Strauss
(b) Heimliche Aufforderung.....R. Strauss
(c) (Drinking Song)
3. Violin Solo—
(a) Le Cygne (The Swan).....C. Saint Saens
(b) La Chiquantale.....Gabriel-Maue
Mr. Edward G. Sheibler.
4. Il Bacio (by request).....Arditi
5. Il re pastore.....Mozart
Intermission.
6. Preludes Nos. 4, 5, 6.....Chopin
Mr. Francis Moore.
7. (a) Gesang Weyla's.....H. Wolf
(b) Der Gartner.....H. Wolf
(c) Er ist's.....H. Wolf

(f) The Dawn.....Guy d'Ardelet
8. Ballade, op. 37.....Chopin
Mr. Francis Moore.
9. Ocean Aria from Oberon.....Von Weber
10. The Guide to Dresden, reporting a musical at which Miss Cooper sang, has the following to say of her work.

"The most progress was shown by Miss Cooper, whose tendency to tremolo or vibrato has been so overcome that she sang with the steadiest voice Mozart's 'Il re pastore,' one of the hardest possible songs, with such artistry and fine musical interpretation as

MRS. GERTRUDE M. (J. W.) COFFIN—VOICE CULTURE.

El Paso people are particularly fortunate in having such a studio as that of Mrs. Gertrude M. Coffin. Pupils can enter the Coffin studio with the absolute assurance that they will receive the best training that modern methods have evolved. This studio prepares singers for church, concert and oratorio. Placing the voice, tone production and artistic singing are a certainty to those who place themselves under Mrs. Coffin's direction.

Mrs. Coffin studied under such teachers as Augustus Rotoli and William L. Whitney of the New England Conservatory at Boston, Adelaide Pool of England, James Stephen Martin, and Simeon Bissell, of Pittsburgh. Last summer she spent several months under the celebrated Chicago coach, George Nelson Holt, one of Jean de Reszke's pupils. Jean de Reszke says of George Nelson Holt: "I am pleased to certify that Mr. Holt has brilliantly terminated his studies at my school of singing, and I authorize him to teach my method, which he knows perfectly." Mr. Holt writes of Mrs. Coffin as follows:

"I am pleased to state that during the three months of her study with me Mrs. Coffin has done most careful and thorough work, and has made fine progress in the acquirement of my method of tone production. Her enthusiasm for her work and her splendid faculty of analysis have made her a very interesting pupil, and these qualities, with her charming personality, insure for her a flattering success as a teacher."

Chicago, September Third, Nineteen Ten.

Locally, Mrs. Coffin has done splendid work in musical circles, having been director of the Choral Club for four years, chairman of the Musical Committee of the Civic League, director of the Musical Department in the Women's Club, and director of the Choir of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. In addition, she has produced three oratorios and two light operas—the oratorios being "The Holy City" in 1907, "The Coming of the King" in 1907 and "The Holy Child" in 1908—the light operas being "The Mikado" in 1907 and "The Mocking Bird" in 1909.

Mrs. Coffin's aim is to teach the art of singing in the most finished and practical manner. Her studio, in the Lucerne, is ready for the reception of pupils. Those interested in singing of the right sort are invited to visit the studio at all times. Appointments with Mrs. Coffin for the testing of the voice, or further information, may be had by calling at the studio or telephoning 3532.
